DETAILED ACTION

The following action is in response to application 10/762,875 filed on January 21, 2004.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on page 10, line 25, "piton" should be replaced with --piston--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Forster in view of Mann '262. Forster teaches a piston motor 1 with a speed reducer, wherein said speed reducer includes planetary gear trains of a plurality of stages (Col. 3); wherein a hollow final shaft is integrally constructed in a motor case of said motor (separated at 8); wherein at least a planetary gear train 2+ of one stage of said planetary gear train is placed in a hollow of said final shaft; and wherein at least a final stage planetary 6+ gear train of said plurality of planetary gear trains is placed outside said final shaft. Forster lacks the teaching of said piston motor being of a radial type. Mann teaches a radial type piston motor 5 connected to a planetary reduction. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Forster to employ a radial type piston motor in view of Mann in order to save on axial space (Col. 1, lines 44-46).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Toth, Mann '425, Kosodo, Fukuda, Smith, and Tsunemi have been cited to show similar motor and planetary reduction arrangements.

FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Submission of your response by facsimile transmission is encouraged. Group 3600's facsimile number is (703) 305-3597. Recognizing the fact that reducing cycle time in the processing and examination of patent applications will effectively increase a patent's term, it is to your benefit to submit responses by facsimile transmission whenever permissible. Such submission will place the response directly in our examining group's hands and will eliminate Post Office processing and delivery time as well as the PTO's mail room processing and delivery time. For a complete list of correspondence not permitted by facsimile transmission, see MPEP 502.01. In general, most responses and/or amendments not requiring a fee, as well as those requiring a fee but charging such fee to a deposit account, can be submitted by facsimile transmission. Responses requiring a fee which applicant is paying by check should not be submitting by facsimile transmission separately from the check.

Art Unit: 3681

Responses submitted by facsimile transmission should include a Certificate of Transmission (MPEP 512). The following is an example of the format the certification might take:

I hereby certify that this correspondence is being facsimile transmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office (Fax No. (703) 305-3597) on _____ (Date)

Typed or printed name of person signing this certificate:

(Signature)

If your response is submitted by facsimile transmission, you are hereby reminded that the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity (37 CFR 1.4 and MPEP 502.02). Please do not separately mail the original or another copy unless required by the Patent and Trademark Office. Submission of the original response or a follow-up copy of the response after your response has been transmitted by facsimile will only cause further unnecessary delays in the processing of your application; duplicate responses where fees are charged to a deposit account may result in those fees being charged twice.
